SOMETHING DOING AT THE TRUSTEES MEETING.

The monotonous smoothness of the proceedings of the board of trustees was pleasantly broken last Wednesday evening when the question of granting L. C. Wardell a poolroom license was taken up for discussion only. It will be remembered that the license had been revoked the previous week by the votes of Messrs. Cole, Grant and Watson; Mr. Blackburn voting "no" at that time and Mr. Anderson being absent. At last Wednesday evening's session, Mr. Grant was absent; Messrs. Cole and Watson had experienced no change of heart, and Mr. Blackburn wanted further time to consider; his motion to refer the matter to "Committee of the Whole" being seconded by Mr. Anderson. As a number of citizens were present who wished to express themselves on the subject, however, that privilege was awarded them. Mr. Anderson started things going by asking why the board had taken such unexpected and uncalled for action during his absence. He said something about "taking a thousand dollars out of Mr. Wardell's pocket," an expression which Chairman Watson indignantly resented, saying he would not allow Mr. Anderson to make it. Mr. Anderson made it again with unparliamentary modifications, under the protection of the city marshal who did his best to prevent the husky trustee from being sat upon by the mayor, and succeeded admirably, although the electric lights burned blue for a moment. Mr. Watson arose to his feet and defended the action of the trustees in revoking the license although he admitted that no complaint had been made against the poolroom as conducted by Mr. Wardell. He was of the opinion that poolrooms are bad places and ought to be suppressed even when well conducted. Mr. Fackenthal defended the poolroom, testifying that he passed by frequently, had noticed it particularly and thought it a well conducted establishment where men who had no other place to pass an evening were in the habit of congregating to indulge in innocent pastime.

Dr. Chase spoke in favor of Mr. Wardell whom he thought had been treated very unfairly as no complaint had been made against his establishment and to revoke the license, as had been done, was, he believed, a great injustice to a good citizen. He did not believe in the idea that the young men of the town are more apt to start on the downward road because of a poolroom near by; on the contrary, he had noticed in years past when there was none here, that the young men went to Los Angeles and played this and other games in far less reputable places. Mr. Fackenthal stated that it had become a common thing for the Y. M. C. A. to have pool and billiard rooms for the entertainment of the young men. In reply to this Mr. Watson stated that he did not believe any one present would be rash enough to assert that the conditions in a Y. M. C. A. were as harmful as those even in a well conducted public poolroom. Notwithstanding his affirmed certainty however, one or two of the citizens present, did express this very incendiary idea. Mr. E. G. Pack spoke as a taxpayer interested in the vicinity of the poolroom, asserting that he had failed to notice any evidence showing that the place was otherwise than a harmless well-conducted resort for pastime. Mr. Stanley expressed his belief that the place had been properly conducted and said that in his opinion it was not the kind of a resort that breeds criminals.

Mr. Wilmot Pacher, former president of the board, spoke in favor of the retention of the poolroom; paid tribute to Mr. Wardell as a good citizen and thought he had not been fairly treated. Mr. Sherer thought that while the board had probably acted legally, it had no moral right to take the action it had without complaint being made or notice being given so that Mr. Wardell's investment might to some extent be protected.

Mr. Lenox made a few remarks defending the action of the board, expressing surprise that there was so much opposition shown to it. At the time the license was granted he was under the impression that popular sentiment was nearly unanimous against granting such a license. In concluding the discussion, Mr. Watson announced his unalterable determination to be in no way responsible for the existence of a poolroom in this town and declared that rather than vote for licensing one he would resign; which he would do in fact if a petition signed by a majority of the voters and asking that a license be issued, should be received.

This being the final word in the discussion, the assembled citizens departed to their several homes to dream perchance of the awfulness of a poolroom not under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The California legislature assembled Monday last and organized by electing the Hon. Phil Stanton of Los Angeles speaker, with the probability of the Hon. Transue of Los Angeles being made chairman of the ways and means committee. Certainly if this pair of statesmen can reflect glory upon Southern California, we shall get all that is coming to us. Their records do not give promise of any brilliant achievements in the way of reform, but it is only fair to wait and see what happens before passing judgment on what they may do. The statesmen are having trouble in distributing their modest allowance of patronage where it will do the most good, as the recent vote on a constitutional amendment to that effect, limits the daily expenditure for "help" to $500 for both houses. The forty senators will get the best of it, but it will go hard with such thrifty statesmen as our own Senator Savage to provide places on the roll of attaches for the several members of their families upon a beggarly per diem allowance of about $5.00 per day! This is offset considerably, however, by the increased compensation now paid legislators who now receive $1000 for the session of from sixty to eighty days, so that statesmanship, with its perquisites is still worth while. Senator "Charley" Bell of Pasadena, having been elected on an "Independent" ticket two years ago, has been denied admission to the Republican caucus, but we fancy that this is not keeping him awake nights. He is a pretty good Republican all the same and his tribe is increasing all the time. We hope he is in good fighting trim and expect to see a vigorous minority rally around his independent banner before the session is over. There are a lot of good men in the senate and some of them will break away from the organization under the inspiration of a capable leader. The indications are that the race track people are considerably alarmed over the situation. The assembly can be relied upon to pass the anti-race track bill; the upper house will be the fighting ground. There seems to be no organized opposition to the re-election of Senator Perkins, unfortunately, and we shall in all probability have to have him for six years more.

Isador Jacobs of the California Traffic Association, quotes Senator-elect Bristow of Kansas as saying: "The trouble is that both senators from California are opposed to the recommendations I made." The reference here is to a report made by Mr. Bristow to Secretary of War Taft some time ago when he was investigating the transportation problem. The recommendation was that a line of steamers be established on the Pacific coast to compete with the trans-continental railroads. Mr. Bristow's idea was to establish a government line of steamers on both oceans connected by the railroad belonging to our government across the isthmus of Panama. This suggestion was, of course, opposed by railroad influences. It will be interesting to watch the action of our senators (both elected by railroad influences) when some such matter as this comes up in the senate for action and compels them to come down on one side or the other of the political fence.

FOR ROAD FOREMAN.

Mr. J. W. Parker announces his candidacy for the position of road foreman in this district (surrounding but not including Glendale city). As Supervisor Pridham has announced that anyone desiring to fill this position must be a resident of the district, Mr. Parker will shortly remove to Tropic to secure eligibility.

Mr. Parker has been a resident of Glendale for the past four years, is a young man of good character, a practical cement worker with considerable experience in handling workmen, and should be able to fill satisfactorily this responsible position.

We understand that it is Mr. Pridham's intention to allow the voters to settle the matter among themselves by a postal card ballot. There is also a possibility that the district, which is a large one, may be divided by creating a new district including Eagle Rock valley and that portion of the district east of the Glendale city limits.

At election of officers for the library board, held on Wednesday at the library room, Dr. A. L. Bryant was elected president and Mrs. Lillian Wells, secretary.

A cottage prayer meeting, held on Wednesday night for First Presbyterian church, corner of Columbus and West Central, was much appreciated and well attended.

The Girls' Basket Ball team went over to Whittier Thursday and beat the girls' team there is a practice game, just to keep their hands in, by a score of 22 to 10.

The numbers to be rendered by Mr. Wilson, the cornetist, at the concert tonight call for the full capabilities of that fine instrument, and it's said Wilson can bring them all out.

Mrs. Stearns, the mother of Mrs. Wing, who has been staying at the Sanitarium for a month past, has greatly improved in health and returned to her home in Los Angeles.

W. E. Nye and R. E. Wright have opened a barber shop in the old city hall on Fourth street near Glendale avenue, and are fitting it up in modern style. They came from Long Beach and are going to "grow up" with our city.

Mr. Milton Cunningham is now connected with the office of the Pacific Electric company here in the capacity of assistant to Mr. LeGrand, whose duties as agent have grown to such an extent that additional help has become a necessity.

A new watchmaker has come to town. Mr. W. M. Wright, formerly of Long Beach, has opened up a watchmaking and repair establishment in the brick building occupied by C. G. Wilkinson, on Brand boulevard between Third and Fourth streets.

Supervisor R. W. Pridham called on Thursday. Mr. Pridham is getting acquainted with his district in a way which promises excellent results in the responsible office to which he has been elected. He went over the road district with Mr. E. D. Goode, road foreman.

Mr. A. W. Randolph has commenced the foundation of a new house on the Randolph tract, located on Louise street near Ninth, which is to consist of five rooms, bath room, etc., with cobblestone pillars to porches, cobblestone chimney and so forth, the cost of which is to be $2600.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church will be held next Thursday at 2 o'clock in the church. Special program. All members urged to be present. Everybody invited. Also the branch quarterly next Wednesday at the Methodist church at South Pasadena.

The work on the upper floor of the brick block on Brand boulevard over Woods' hotel is about completed and furnished. There will then be 26 rooms for guests; an addition to the hotel which is greatly needed, as the demand for accommodations here for some time past has largely exceeded the supply.

Mr. Frank Campbell was agreeably surprised a short time ago by the arrival of his son, Ray Campbell, from Max Bass, North Dakota, in Glendale where he expects to spend the winter. Mr. Campbell is interested in farming in North Dakota on quite a large scale, at which he has been remarkably successful for a young man.

Mr. Lucien Small called at the NEWS office this week. Mr. Small is here preparing to move his family to McKittick in Kern county, where he is at present employed. He reports things lively in the oil fields, but appreciates the attractive features of Glendale as a home place and is in no hurry to dispose of his property here.

WILLIAM LEWIS, Proprietor.

Regular meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, Jan. 12.

Since the holiday season the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Club are getting into line again and the next meeting, January 12th, the first one of the New Year, is mapped out to be one of uncommon interest. The leaders, Mrs. Thatcher and Mrs. Overton, with Mrs. D. Imler as leader of Current Events, have prepared a splendid program with the "Edgar Allen Poe Centennial" as their subject.

This is the first real literary program of this year outside the poets, and each member of the club is requested to come and furnish a share in the entertainment and profit of the afternoon by bringing some item of interest relative to the subject to be studied.

An event of great interest to the Presbyterians of Glendale will be the meetings to be held on January 18th in the interest of the Forward Movement that is being undertaken by all the American churches looking to the speedy evangelization of the world. Three very able speakers from abroad will be present. One of these will be Dr. Underwood of Korea, the first clerical missionary to that country, who was responsible, more than any other man for the policy that has been so wonderfully successful in the religious conquest of that land. He has been the confident and adviser of the rulers as well as the common people and was the one upon whom the royal family leaned at the time of the first revolution. He is a very thrilling and effective speaker. Dr. Halsey, secretary of the Presbyterian board, will be another speaker and all who have ever heard him will be anxious to do so again. He has the power of the man who is thoroughly posted in his own specialty and the ability to present what he knows in fitting words.

Further details will be presented in our next issue.

Next Sabbath morning will be the regular communion service in the Presbyterian church. In the evening there will be the usual song service followed by the sermon.

The first meeting for Bible study on the West Side held by Dr. Ward on Wednesday evening at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Arfwedson, on Fifth street, between Columbus and Pacific avenues, was well attended and full of interest. It is open to all who may wish to attend and it is hoped that the interest and attendance may both increase.

THE SHIELD'S OTHER SIDE.

The local advertisements of a gas company that is seeking subscribers for its stock, attractively, and we doubt not, honestly, present facts of interest to every consumer. The company is about to erect a gas plant to supply Tropic and Glendale, where it estimates some 1500 consumers are eager for its coming. Each of them, it is estimated, will burn an average of 2000 cubic feet of gas per month, at a cost of $1.25 per 1000 cubic feet. Then, presenting pleasingly the inducements why investors should buy its preferred stock, the company shows that it will be able to make, at a cost of 33-1-3 cents per thousand cubic feet, the gas for which it will charge consumers $1.25, a profit of nearly 400 per cent. Granting that against this must be charged interest on the cost of the plant and depreciation, the profit is still beyond all reason.

It appears that the profit would pay 22 per cent. per annum on a capitalization of $150,000, and subscribers are asked to remember a point not without value for Los Angeles consumers—"double the number could be served at comparatively little advance in the cost of operation."

How different an aspect most public service corporations wear when they face the assessor and when they confide in the investor.—L. A. Express.

GAS AGAIN.

Sierra Madre, a smaller city than Glendale, by the way, is to vote February 24th upon the question of bonding itself to the extent of $30,000 for a municipal gas plant. Other communities are taking similar steps and it is time that Glendale was doing something to secure this prime necessity. If the gentlemen who have recently circulated in the community conditional contracts to be signed by prospective users, can give any evidence of their ability to secure this commodity which we seriously need, they should be encouraged. Time, however, should be the essence of all contracts of this kind, so that in the event of promoters being unable to carry out their plans within the time specified, that project may be promptly abandoned and not allowed to consume time unnecessarily. The concern which started here over two years ago with promises which have not been fulfilled, should not be allowed longer to monopolize the field.

AN OLD FRIEND HEARD FROM.

A misplaced copy of the Shelbina (Mo.) Torchlight has come to hand and it gives us pleasure to notice that Mr. T. L. Puckett, who will be remembered as, spending several months with us last year (a few of them against his will on account of the severe accident he met with while here) was elected in November last to the office of public administrator in his county, by a majority of 1200 out of a total of 2491 votes. Mr. Puckett can't help being a Democrat, located as he is in old Missouri, but the figures indicate that he, with one exception, has the biggest majority of any man on his ticket, which shows that he captured some of the few Republicans in his bailiwick.

THE SHOOTING OF CONSTABLE DE MANVILLE.

Deputy Constable De Manville who was killed at Newhall Monday night by Jack Elton whom he was attempting to arrest, will be remembered by many of our Glendale people as a deputy under Constable Catlin of Burbank. He had a reputation for fearlessness which the manner of his death proved was well deserved. The murderer has been captured and makes a plea of self defense, alleging that a short time before he encountered the officer, he had been attacked by a gang of footpads, and fired at the constable under the impression that he was one of the same gang.

A BIRTHDAY HONORED.

Teachers of the Fourth Street, Sixth Street and High School entertained on Thursday evening complimentary to Mrs. M. O. Ryan, honoring her birthday in a very pretty way in the home of Miss Ida M. Walte. One of the games was most original, the names written by guests spelling Mary Oden Ryan. In such pretty ways, and with dainty gifts, was appreciation shown the honoree, who sat at the head of a table most sumptuously spread to do her honor. Sweet flowers and soft candle lights were accessories to the many birthday compliments.

GLENDAL, CAL., JANUARY 9, 1909

The SOUTH PASADENA RECORD celebrates the advent of the New Year by issuing a twenty-page special edition which is a credit to the publisher and to the community it represents. It is splendidly illustrated and typographically a gem. The advertisements show that the RECORD is located in a live and prosperous community. Upon all of which we congratulate our contemporary.

THE SEDUCTIVE CATALOGUE.

Those alluring seed and flower catalogues are beginning to arrive with their gorgeously ornamented covers and the pictures of phenomenal garden products. It makes one long to get out into the soil and dig. Everybody who reads the directions as to planting can readily see (at the time) that success depends solely upon getting seeds in goodly quantities of the particular firm that is responsible for the catalogue. And when we read that John Jones last year raised four hundred bushels of potatoes from a bushel of seed or that Pete Johnson paid off a mortgage by raising cauliflower, we begin to call ourselves hard names for ever thinking that there are better or quicker ways of making money than out of the soil. They are great jokers these catalogue makers. Every issue put out since catalogues first began, has recommended some new variety of something or other, "better than anything introduced before," to be followed next year by the same claim for something else! Perfection in garden truck is evidently a slow process, if constant improvements for a hundred years has not attained it, or this is a wicked wicked world where even the catalogue makers have lapses from strict veracity!

PATRONIZE HOME INSTITUTIONS.

That so many of our people purchase goods in Los Angeles which can be procured at the same price at home, indicates merely a carelessness on the part of the majority who follow this practice, rather than any disposition to be disloyal to home institutions. But it is really worth while to give the matter some thought and if it is a practice that has grown into a habit when no reason any longer exists for it, the habit should be broken. All of our wants cannot be supplied by the home concerns, it is true, but it is probably a fact that more than one-half of the goods brought into Glendale daily from the larger city, could be secured here at the same price that is paid in Los Angeles. A large number of our citizens who are employed in Los Angeles daily, find it convenient perhaps to do their shopping there and in very many cases are really ignorant of the possibilities of Glendale stores in catering to their wants. To this class we make the suggestion that they, even at the expense of a little trouble to themselves, endeavor to find out whether a large portion of their needs cannot be supplied by our local stores, at the same price which they pay elsewhere, and if so to give them their patronage. In the case of local concerns which feel so sure of their patronage that they do not feel it incumbent upon them to advertise in the home paper, the above advice applies with restrictions!

LIGHT OUT OF DARKNESS.

The frightful details of the disaster to Italy continue to appear from day to day, all tending to indicate that the mind cannot possibly conceive a tithe of the dreadfulness of the situation in that stricken portion of the earth. But like a rift in the dark clouds that enshroud the scene, and gives a glimpse of the sunshine beyond, appears the vision of Italy's queen—laying aside all special prerogatives of royalty and becoming thoroughly woman, that she may tread the broken dangerous paths among the wreckage of her cities and carry comfort, sympathy and every practical help to her suffering subjects. And by her side her husband, the king, still a king, "but every inch a man." Other Italians of high rank, notably the Duke of Aosta and his wife, have shown by most heroic action that they feel the responsibility of their high position and are capable of sympathizing to the fullest extent with their suffering fellow countrymen. In addition to his service with the queen on the actual danger line, regardless of personal safety or comfort, the king has contributed of his private fortune the immense sum of four hundred thousand dollars for the relief of the sufferers. The people of Italy will doubtless be drawn together with their rulers more closely than ever before by the common bond of sympathy, and far reaching beneficent results, let us hope, will bring to Italy at least some measure of compensation for its great affliction.

CONCERNING THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

About every other person one meets nowadays is suffering from, has recently had a bad cold, or has the symptoms that indicate the incipency of an attack of the prevailing malady, loosely and generally termed "the gripe." It is somewhat strange that with the knowledge now possessed of the character and the causes of this very common but none the less dangerous affliction, the majority of people continue to be as careless, in respect to their own health and that of others associated with them, as if no advance had been made in medical science during the past century. The fact that a "cold" is as contagious as a "fever," has been so clearly demonstrated that it would naturally be supposed that the same care would be exercised to prevent the spread of one as of the other. Such is not the case, however, and a great deal of preventable suffering is the consequence. The disease runs through families, in many instances attacking every member from infancy to old age. And in such cases it is quite probable that the cause of the family affliction can be traced to the first case that was introduced from the school or elsewhere to spread through the household. Our schools are natural mediums for the dissemination of contagious maladies through the community, and the prevention of this evil as much as possible should be one of the principal duties of those in charge of the children. A child with a "bad cold" should be kept from school, both for its own sake and that of others, and every precaution taken to avoid contagion. In San Bernardino a few days ago, two public drinking fountains were installed on the "cupless" principle, and that city deserves to be complimented upon the adoption of the hygienic idea embodied in the doing away with the universal disease spreading cup which has hitherto been a feature of public drinking fountains. This system has been adopted in the public schools of a few of the most progressive Eastern cities and will no doubt become general. We understand that the progressive civics committee of our Tuesday Afternoon Club has under consideration the matter of supplying Glendale with a public fountain similar to the one in San Bernardino and we hope that their efforts will receive all possible encouragement.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

We publish the following upon the request, may upon the mandate of our silent partner, who insists that it is a gem of which Dickens might be proud. As Dickens cannot possibly object and as our silent partner is apt to be in the right generally, we offer it to our readers:

(From the N. Y. Sun of Sept. 21, 1907)
We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of the Sun:

"Dear Editor—I am 8 years old.
"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.
"Papa says 'if you see it in The Sun it's so.'
"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

VIRGINIA O'HANLON,
"115 West Ninety-fifth street."

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the scepticism of a sceptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little in this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noises inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God, he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

NEW HALL OF RECORDS IN LOS ANGELES.

All county taxpayers are interested in the Hall of Records to be constructed in Los Angeles, bids for the erection of which will be called for in a few weeks. This structure is to be built south of the present court house, on the lot extending from Broadway to Franklin street, where the old jail building now stands. While it will in one sense be an annex to the courthouse, it will overshadow that structure in more ways than one. It will be a seven-story structure separated from the court house by an alley and connected with it by bridges. The building will be of steel skeleton construction with reinforced concrete footings and steel beam grillage, the roof will be of slate and throughout will be as nearly fireproof as possible. It will cover an area of 96 by 240 feet. There is no doubt about the necessity existing for additional accommodations for the county business. At present the county is paying nearly $25,000 yearly for rental of rooms outside the courthouse for various county offices.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS INSTALLATION.

Installation for Miradero lodge, Knights of Pythias, occurs Saturday night at the Masonic hall, as the new K. P. hall is not completed, as was expected. There will be about two hundred guests and two special cars from Los Angeles are chartered for members of Gauntlet lodge and guests. District Deputy C. C. James Murry of Los Angeles will be present. About eighty-five have signified their courage equal to an encounter with the hard-headed K. P. goat. An all night session will be the result and the banquet prepared will be something to be remembered. Some very pretty work expected and competent committee give assurance that the occasion will be an auspicious and enjoyable one. The new lodge was formed recently, and officers elected in December, as given last week.

THE NEW RAILROAD.

County teams have been engaged during the past week in grading down the hill and widening the road from the Eagle Rock car line to the top of the hill. This was necessary from the fact that land has been deeded to the county to make that portion of the road 120 feet wide, and as the electric poles will occupy the center of the roadway, this work had to be done first. Poles for the new line have been delivered on the ground and will be distributed along the right of way today (Saturday).

MISS WAITE ENTERTAINS.

Miss Ida M. Waite entertained with "whist" at a watchnight party given in her new apartments on Third and Glendale avenues. Decorations were seasonable and arranged with artistic taste. Candle light shed a soft light upon the pretty scene and blossoms arranged in rare Indian baskets were much admired. At twelve a bounteous repast was served in the dining room and New Year's toasts were a feature. Prizes were awarded Miss Lois Hatch and Miss Rivenburg for holding highest scores.

AGREEMENT IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE.

State vs. Adams Lumber Co., Supreme court of Nebraska. 116 Northwestern, 302.

A Wedding Decoration.

Whether it was a mistake or a joke or simply an example of bad taste is a question that is still puzzling most of the passengers. But no matter about that. It certainly was a floral masterpiece. Full four feet it stood from the ground, in the form of a cross. Roses white and roses red composed the body of the cross, and dainty white blossoms and green leaves formed the trimmings. In the center the word "Peace" was spelled out in rosebuds.

"Everybody in the car admired the offering, and when the boy set it down on the floor all leaned forward to examine it more closely. At length one old gentleman stood up and readjusted his glasses in order to get a better look at it.

"That is a mighty pretty posy you've got there," he said. "Who, may I ask, is dead?"

"The boy giggled.

"Nobody 't I know of," he said.

"This ain't for a funeral; it's for a wedding."

The old gentleman sat down heavily.

"Good Lord!" he said. "What idiot ever ordered 'Peace' inscribed on a wedding decoration?"

The rest of the passengers smiled, and many of them, being married, wondered as well, but nobody ventured an explanation.—New York Times.

Death and Snuff.

A certain Margaret Wilson of Westminster, who was an inveterate snuff taker, enjoined that a quantity of Scotch snuff should be placed in her coffin. She also ordered that the arrangements connected with her funeral should be as follows: "Six men to be my bearers who are known to be the greatest snuff takers in the parish of St. James, Westminster. Instead of mourning, each to wear a snuff colored beaver hat, which I desire may be bought for the purpose and given to them. Six maidens of my old acquaintance to bear my pall, each to carry a box filled with the best Scotch snuff, to take for their refreshment as they go along." Snuff was also to be thrown on the threshold of the deceased's dwelling before the cortege passed out, snuff was to be strewn on the ground at every twenty yards in advance of the coffin, and the officiating clergyman's fee was to be proportionate to the quantity of snuff he consumed during the ceremony.—London Globe.

What the Peruvians Believed.

A unique idea of the future state was that of the ancient Peruvians. As the disembodied soul winged its way to eternity it encountered two socks, upon one of which it must needs rest. The choice was determined by the morality of the life in the flesh. If it rested upon the left hand sock it was instantly translated to "Po," or oblivion, a state analogous to the Nirvana of the Orient. If through early misdeeds, however, the unhappy spirit was guided to the right hand sock it entered into a purgatorial hell where fiends grated away the flesh from all the bones in succession, after which the skeleton was reclothed and sent back to earth for another try. There was no haste about this grating process. It took something over 10,000 years.

Australia's First Theater.

The first recorded production of a play in Australia took place in June of the year 1789. It was called "The Recruiting Officer." The proceeds of the first pay night (some £20) went to the family of a man who had been drowned. In January, 1798, a rough and ready playhouse was opened, and the public had to pay a shilling a head for admission. The playhouse was made in kind, wheat, flour or sum taking the place of the usual currency.—London Standard.

Disappearing Home Life.

The flat dweller ought not to keep a dog, prefers not to keep a cat, cannot have a garden, has no chance of keeping house, has no possible place for memories and, most emphatic of all, has no use or accommodation for babies. Although it may be possible to make homes without kittens or babies or flowers or memories or cupboards, the spirit of home is hard to woo and win without any of them.—Fortnightly Review.

Go Right at It.

"Of course you know that germs communicate sickness?"

"Yes," answered the man who is apprehensive about his health, "and the worst of it is that they get right down to business in their communications, instead of employing the scientific circumlocution of the medical profession."—Exchange.

Trying to Make a Hit.

Judge—Do you acknowledge the charge brought before the court of throwing your wife to the ground and knocking her head repeatedly against the floor? Prisoner (evasively)—I was only trying to make a hit with her, your honor.—Judge.

A Substitute.

"I am sorry, my dear sir, but I neglected to bring my surgical instruments with me."

"That will be all right, doctor. The plumber who has been working in the cellar has left his tools here."—Exchange.

The Fatted Ox.

That mighty unfair trick of killing the fatted calf for the prodigal causes more family rows than anything else on earth except the division of father's money.—Acheson Globe.

Out of a great evil may come a great good.—Italian Proverb.

The Senate's Hole in the Wall.

When the nineteenth century was as yet only half grown, senators applied customarily for their toddies at the so-called Hole in the Wall, a small circular room just off the postoffice of the upper house. The latter body then occupied what is now the chamber of the supreme court, and the postoffice was across the main corridor of the building on the same floor. When a wearer of the toga found himself in need of a "snifter" he had only to cross over to the mails department and pass through it to the little circular room aforesaid, which was about the size of a pantry. The Hole in the Wall was the first senate restaurant, and the bill of fare for edibles was short, though to the point. There was ham, guaranteed to have been smoked for six months, a veritable sublimation of the pork product; there were corned beef and bread and cheese, but very little else. They served, however, as an accompaniment for the fluids, and when the Hole was crowded, as was often the case, senators ate their sandwiches outside, in the postoffice.—Washington Post.

The Aurora Borealis.

The aurora borealis, or northern light, is something that we have all heard about, but very few, perhaps, can give any explanation of it. No one definitely knows what causes it, but the scientists are pretty well agreed that it is due to electricity. They believe that the light is made by the recombination of the positive and negative electricity always in the upper and lower strata of air, respectively. M. Lenström made an interesting experiment in Finland in 1882, his object being to determine the nature of the aurora. He had the peak of a mountain surrounded by a copper wire, pointed at intervals with tin nibs. When he had charged the wire with electricity a yellow light appeared on the tin tips, and an examination of the light by the spectroscopic revealed the greenish yellow ray that is a marked feature of the aurora. This evidence among scientists is almost convincing, for it is by means of the spectroscopic that we discover the constituent parts of the sun and the stars.—Exchange.

"Thou Diest on Point of Fox."

Fox blades were celebrated all through the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries for their excellent temper, and mention of them is frequent in English drama. This is their history: There was a certain Julian del Rei, believed to be a Morisco, who set up a forge at Toledo in the early part of the sixteenth century and became famous for the excellence of his sword blades, which were regarded as the best of Toledo. That city had for many ages previous been renowned for swordmaking, it being supposed that the Moors introduced the art, as they did so many good things, from the East.

Julian del Rei's mark was a little dog, which came to be taken for a fox, and so the "fox blade" or simply "fox" for any good sword. See "Henry V." act 4, scene 4, "Thou diest on point of fox." The brand came to be imitated in other places, and there are Solingen blades of comparatively modern manufacture which still bear the little dog of Julian del Rei.—London Notes and Queries.

A Royal Snake Slaughterer.

The "secretary bird" is one of the most precious birds in South Africa. It is royal game, and any person destroying one is liable to a fine of £50. Sleek looking birds, they stand about three feet high and generally go in pairs. They are of drab color, with black, feathery legs, and are valued for their propensity for killing snakes. Where the secretary bird is seen there are sure to be many reptiles about. The bird beats down its adversary first with one wing and then with the other, at the same time trampling on it with its feet until the snake is sufficiently stunned to catch it by the head with its claws. Then the bird rises far up in the air and drops its victim to the ground, to be killed. By this means thousands of venomous reptiles are destroyed.—London Scraps.

Natural History.

"Whah is you been workin'?" asked Miss Miami Brown.

"Up to one o' deshere garridges whar dey keep de automobiles."

"I sposed you likes 'em better dan mules."

"Well, de diff'ence is dat a mule kicks wif his 'hins' feet an' de automobile is 'mo' 'fible to butt same as a goat."—Washington Star.

Busy Woman.

Every monthly magazine carries as many as two continued stories in it. When a man takes six it means that his wife is carrying twelve continued stories in her head in addition to doing the cooking and trying to find out how much the new hat cost worn by the woman next door.—Oil City Derrick.

Economical.

She—I'm going to give you back our engagement ring. I love another. He—Give me his name and address. She—Do you want to kill him? He—No, I want to sell him the ring.—Pick-Me-Up.

A Sponger.

"The worse of Spongely is he never pays anything," said Grabbles.

"Oh, doesn't he, though? Ask him to pay you a visit and see," retorted Slicks.

How He Knew.

A ragman who was gathering up worn-out clothing in the country purchased a pair of discarded trousers at a farmhouse and remarked to the man of the house as he paid for the stuff he had bought:

"I see, sir, that you are about to lose your land on a mortgage."

"Guess you are right," said the discouraged looking farmer, "but will you tell me how the Sam Hill you found that out?"

"Easy enough," said the cheerful ragman as he settled back on the seat of his peddling wagon. "I notice that these old pants are completely played out, so far as the part of 'em you sat down on is concerned, but they show mighty little wear anywhere else."—Exchange.

Just His Luck.

"William, Freddie informs me that his teacher has decided to advance him from the sixth to the seventh grade owing to his fine deportment and his praiseworthy attention to his studies."

"Pshaw! That's just my luck!"

"Why, what makes you say that?"

"I had it all figured out that I was going to be about $10 ahead at the end of this month. Now it will be necessary to buy a new set of schoolbooks."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Invisible Point.

It was an awfully old joke, but the American thought it might cause his English friend to generate a smile. "Just before I sailed for Liverpool," said the American, "I dreamed that I was dead, and the boat woke me up."

"So?" rejoined the Englishman seriously. "The weather must be beastly hot in America."—Chicago News.

Luck.

"Do you believe there is anything in luck?" asked the young man.

"Yes," answered the home grown philosopher. "There is a lot of intelligence and perseverance in it."—Exchange.

SCIENCE.

The Coming Comet. I. (Written for the News.)

From the earliest times comets have excited the imagination of mankind, in the dark ages with dread, as mysterious portents of evil and disaster. In modern times, though we no longer regard them with apprehension, they still hold great interest for us, some of them rushing into our system from outer space, and apparently cutting right across the orbit of all the planets to our central luminary. And although we have learned much about their orbits, motions and constitution, this knowledge but increases the mystery of their origin and office in the scheme of creation.

Comets are described as consisting of three parts, the nucleus, the coma and the tail.

The nucleus is the bright center and appears like a small star which could probably escape notice but for its accompanying coma and tail. The coma, which is the Latin word for hair, is the misty or hirsute mass which surrounds the nucleus on all sides, shading off into indefiniteness in every direction, and giving the appearance of a small star seen through a fog. The nucleus and coma constitute the head of the comet.

The tail is the backward continuation of the coma in one direction, and appears as a stream of milky light growing broader and fainter as it recedes from the comet, until lost to sight in infinite attenuation. When first a comet is detected by the ever-watchful astronomer it is seen to consist of but nucleus and coma, or sometimes of Coma only. But as it approaches the sun the remarkable appendage called the tail is developed in a beautiful stream of light, always directed away from the sun, as if the latter exercised some kind of repellant influence on the body of the comet. The nature of this influence is as yet one of the mysteries of the science, and astronomers are still discussing several ingenious theories to account for it.

The Physical Constitution of comets is also still in great doubt, much diversity of opinion on the question existing among astronomers. It is quite certain that the matter of which they are composed is extremely attenuated, and it is doubtful whether even the nucleus consists of solid particles.

Sir John Herschell, in the year 1832, plainly saw a small cluster of minute stars through a thickness of not less than fifty thousand miles of cometary matter, thus proving conclusively that the substance of the latter was of the most ethereal nature. It has been conjectured that the whole substance of a fairly sized comet might easily be contained in a hat, humorously referred to as a "hat full of comet." Strongly contrasted with the belief of a former age, we know now that in any encounter of a comet with a planet, the comet would assuredly get the worst of it. Considerable doubt also exists as to the

whether it is a permanent appendage of the comet, traveling with it and becoming conspicuous in sunlight, or whether it consists of finely divided particles trailed behind by the onward rush of the comet. Professor Newcomb inclines to the belief that the tail is "not a fixed appendage of the comet, which the latter carries along with it, but a stream of vapor rising from it, like smoke from a chimney."

Comets are naturally divided into those moving in elliptical orbits, and therefore returning periodically to our skies, and those whose orbits describe a parabola or a hyperbola, both of which are open curves, and cannot therefore return within any known periods, unless their motions should be disturbed by planetary attraction. Each of the great outer planets has its family of comets whose orbits extend from their planet to the sun. Neptune thus sways at least six; Uranus, three; Saturn, two, while Jupiter controls the motions of above a score of comets. There is therefore great reason to believe that these periodic comets have been originally captured by the attraction of the planets, whose sphere of influence they chanced to enter, on their approach to the sun from outer space, and from being free wanderers in the unlimited space of infinite distance, they have been forced to obey the superior sway of the giant planets of the solar system. The comets visible to the naked eye, however, form but a small fraction of the number visiting the sun, most of them appearing as a patch of foggy light of more or less irregular shape. It was the opinion of Kepler that the skies were as full of comets as the sea is of fish, and without going so far as that, it is certain, says Professor Newcomb, "that only an insignificant fraction of all existing comets have ever been observed." They all, however, follow the same general course, coming from outwards toward the sun, with ever increasing velocity as they approach, sweeping round the central luminary at their utmost speed, some hundreds of miles a minute, and then away again, on their appointed orbits, if elliptical, to reappear in due season, their speed slowing down as they recede from the sun, until at the farthest point in their journey they move quite sluggishly at only a few miles a minute!

The orbits of many comets of short periods have been calculated and are well known, and their prompt returns as predicted, have established on the firmest footing the conclusion that they conform to the general law of gravitation, and testify in the highest degree to the wonderful accuracy of the grand science of astronomy.

The orbits of a few long-period comets are also well known, and just now astronomers all over the world are on the qui vive to "pick up" the first traces of one of the most famous comets of ancient or modern times.

Writing of this matter in October last, a fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of England said:

"Autumn has come! And with it have come heart throbbing hopes of a discovery that will be immortally famous in the renowned annals of astronomy—the discovery of

by photography.

We have all waited long for this giant of the cometary-tribe, and the enthusiasm of anticipation has increased with waiting. The last glimpse anyone on this earth had of it was so long ago as the year 1835, and I often wonder how many folk now living have a clear recollection of that celebrated apparition."

Further discussion of this interesting stranger will form the subject of our next paper. X-RAY.

Mr. Haney is eighty-five years of age and has been in the evangelistic work over thirty years. Next Sunday Rev. Haney will preach both morning and evening at the church.

The next regular meeting of the Good Templars lodge of this valley will be held in the G. A. R. hall next Friday evening. Beginning with this meeting the I. O. G. T. will hold meetings regularly every Friday evening, and the promoters are hoping that the interest which was shown in the lodge some time ago may again be manifest and that it will grow. An interesting program will be rendered at this meeting and it is expected that there will be a good attendance. At this opening meeting refreshments will be served. The lodge was to have met last night, but owing to the fact that the Woman's Relief Corps had announced an entertainment for that time, it was postponed until a week later.

There is a possibility that within the next year Tropic may have a sanitarium. A short time ago a number of physicians from Pasadena journeyed over to our little town with the view of securing a site for a sanitarium. Just where this institution will be situated it is not definitely known, but when the promoters were in this place they stated that they were pleased with Tropic as a location, and it is more than possible that it will finally settle here. Dr. Garmon informs us that he is holding a ranch of about ten acres, upon which he hopes the proposed sanitarium will be erected. This sanitarium will practice Suggestive Therapeutics, which some doctors claim is the coming curative.

Mrs. A. L. Watson was very pleasantly surprised at her home on Brand boulevard Wednesday evening by a number of her friends. The occasion was Mrs. Watson's birthday and the affair came to her as a complete surprise. Early in the day Mrs. Watson went to Los Angeles and when the evening time came she was detained by a friend until almost 8 o'clock, when both she and the friend came out to the pretty Watson home on Brand boulevard. Altogether unexpectedly the lady of the house entered the home and passed through the darkened rooms. Her surprise can hardly be imagined when she opened the door of the dining room and beheld quite a number of her friends and neighbors gathered to wish her many happy returns of her birthday.

After the effects of the surprise had passed by the company sat down to an old-fashioned Dutch supper. After the supper the evening was spent in games and music.

The committee which was appointed at the last meeting of the Tropic Improvement Association to do what they could toward hastening the opening of Brand boulevard between Cypress avenue and Tropic avenue, reported this week that so far everything is progressing very nicely, and it is probable that before a great while this block will be opened. Ever since the completion of the Pacific Electric line several of the more active of the Tropic residents have been trying to have this short bit of property opened, in order that a first-class boulevard might be made from the foothills in North Glendale to the Los Angeles river. All through these months and years these public-spirited citizens have been working and at last they think they see a dim light of success just a little ahead and with their eyes steadfastly fixed on that light they are working even more diligently than before. The committee in charge of opening this block are very much encouraged over the fact that many of the residents of Tropic are coming to the front and are taking an active part in this matter. Many have offered to donate large sums of money to be used in the opening of this section; it is understood that this list is headed by L. C. Brand, who offers to donate $500. E. W. Richardson has offered to give a strip of land through his entire property sufficiently wide to make the boulevard the required width. The Richardson estate runs from the San Fernando road all the way to the river and is the largest piece of property owned by any one party anywhere along the boulevard. The members of the Tropic Improvement Association expect that at their next meeting this boulevard opening committee, which is composed of Messrs. Hal Davenport, A. W. Collins and W. C. Wattles, will render a report which will solve the problem of opening this section.
